Armageddon

I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat.

Inspired by early 20th century hand drawing, Armag is a family of two fonts (Fury & Fury Italic) with aggressive and evilish looking endings and, yet, generous organic shapes. Designed first as an experimental project, and with encouraging demands from designers we work with, we focused on developing a full grown font family with enjoyable OTF features, lots of (ever growing ligatures), alternates, etc. There's a touch of corkiness in the design, much to our delight, as it gives just the slight touch of unbalance you will grow to love and enjoy displaying. This font family gives any layout a strong and bold feeling, you can't simply ignore it when displayed in large sizes.

Armag Fury is boldsome, generous, organic, aggressive and sharp. It cuts deep. This font-family does wonders when displayed in headlines and strong heavy displaying or word-marks. Alternates and ligatures are numerous around this sharp tool allowing more experimentation in any kind of design project. We are also working on expanding the font-family with various weights, widths and, of course, alternates & ligatures.
