About

Pensum Sans a poetic and precise soulmate within the Pensum Trilogy – a typeface with absolutely no serifs. No, not even one. As readable as Pensum Pro, with italics that are just as sexy, Pensum Sans is a powerhorse for text, text and nothing but text. With the same legible skeleton as the serif, Pensum Sans echoes and contrasts with its companions: steady rhythm, smooth and sharp shapes, unexpected detailing.

With nine weights, thin to black with matched italics, Pensum Sans doesn't kid about. The punchy black's higher contrast to the fashionable thin weights ensures it tackles extended text, whether in magazines or news, with ease. Pensum Sans is robust in smaller sizes, where its ink-traps and that finely balanced contrast can work their magic — and those same details make it impressive in headlines or large italic quotes.

With more than a thousand glyphs, lots of OpenType features and definitely no serifs at all, Pensum Sans can fulfil every typographic need. For lovers of book typography, the small caps are wider than the caps and you will find punctuation in case and small-cap sensitive variations. Pensum's Adobe Latin 3 encoding is a TypeMates standard and gives a wide range of flexibility for Latin language support.

LISBON A court in Lisbon this month has ruled that Rui Pinto, the 31-year-old Portuguese whistleblower behind Football Leaks, the largest ever exposé of documents and correspondence detailing widespread criminal behaviour in the world of professional football, ranging from fraud and tax evasion to match-fixing and political corruption, is to stand trial on 90 charges relating to his alleged hacking activities. The charges include attempted extortion, sabotage of computing systems and a slew of hacking offences including illegal access to data and violation of the privacy of correspondence. Pinto appeared calm as he arrived at the Lisbon court on the afternoon of January 17th in handcuffs and surrounded by seven armed guards. He faces a maximum total of 25 years in jail if found guilty of the charges announced. No date was announced for his trial, but the justice authorities are legally bound to hold it before the end of September this year. He has been held in preventive detention in Portugal since his extradition last March from Hungary, where he had set up home. The Portuguese public prosecution services, in a 195-page legal document dated September 19th, had demanded that he face trial for

THE RECENT SUDDEN DEATH of Sir Charles Baskerville, whose name has been mentioned as the sansbable Liberal candidate for MID-DEVON at the next election, has cast a gloom over the county. Though Sir Charles had resided at Baskerville Hall for a comparatively short period his amiability of character and extreme generosity had won the affection and respect of all who had been brought into contact with him. In these days of nouveaux riches it is refreshing to find a case where the scion of an old county family which has fallen upon evil days is able to make his own fortune and to bring it back with him to restore the fallen grandeur of his line. Sir Charles, as is well known, made large sums of money in South African speculation. More wise than those who go on until the wheel turns against them, he realized his gains and returned to ENGLAND with them. It is only two years since he took up his residence at Baskerville Hall, and it is common talk how large were those schemes of reconstruction and imsansvement which have been interrupted by his death. Being himself childless, it was his openly expressed desire that the whole country-side should, within his own lifetime, sansfit by his good fortune, and many will have personal reasons for bewailing his untimely end. His generous donations to local and county charities have been frequently chronicled in these columns.

The circumstances connected with the death of Sir Charles cannot be said to have been entirely cleared up by the inquest, but at least enough has been done to dispose of those rumours to which local superstition has given rise. There is no reason whatever to suspect foul play, or to imagine that death could be from any but natural causes. Sir Charles was a widower, and a man who may be said to have been in some ways of an eccentric habit of mind. In spite of his considerable wealth he was simple in his personal tastes, and his indoor servants at Baskerville Hall consisted of a married couple named Barrymore, the husband acting as butler and the wife as housekeeper. Their evidence, corroborated by that of several friends, tends to show that Sir Charles's health has for some time been impaired, and points especially to some affection of the heart, manifesting itself in changes of colour, breathlessness, and acute attacks of nervous depression. Dr. James Mortimer, the friend and medical attendant of the deceased, has given evidence to the same effect.

The facts of the case are simple. Sir Charles Baskerville was in the habit every night before going to bed of walking down the famous Yew Alley of Baskerville Hall. The evidence of
